

Authority Members

Dr. Rosemary Day

Dr. Day is the Head of Department of Media and Communications Studies at Mary Immaculate College, University of Limerick. Senior lecturer and researcher on mass media, regularly publishes on radio and on minority language broadcasting matters. She is an advocate on community broadcasting. She was involved in the founding two community radio stations and the Community Radio Forum (CRAOL). She is the Co-ordinating Director of the Audio Research Centre, the first chair of the Radio Research Section of ECREA and a former council member of AMARC Europe.

Seán Ó Mórdha

Seán Ó Mórdha is an independent producer, director and broadcaster of documentary film and television focusing on Irish culture, history, language and literature. He is also a former producer/director at RTÉ.

Helen Shaw

Helen Shaw has over 30 years of experience in the broadcasting and content production sector. She served as head of RTÉ Radio (1997-2002) and launched RTÉ Lyric FM before establishing Athena Media as a digital media content and consultancy company. She previously worked with BBC as a News and Current Affairs Editor and started her career as a journalist with the Irish Times in Dublin and Belfast. Helen was the lead Irish consultant on the OX Report on Radio Licensing (2004). As a consultant, she undertook the Landscaping of Irish Broadcasting for the Broadcasting Authority Ireland (2010). She also co-authored a research paper on Digital Radio in Ireland (2009) for its predecessor, the Broadcasting Commission of Ireland. Helen is a board member of the Arts Council of Ireland and a member of the Social Sciences Committee of the Royal Irish Academy.